PROFILE

Over six years at FanBox, I've grown with the company and led teams across research, insights, creative content, and operations. I started in an analysis-focused role during the company's first major growth phase and quickly moved into managing flagship entertainment accounts. From there, I evolved into a strategic leadership position where I built our insights and audience activation function, developed products, and designed research methodologies from the ground up. Most recently, I've taken on the operational side of the business, focusing on scaling systems, shaping company direction, developing content strategies, and ensuring teams and individuals have what they need to deliver exceptional work.

WORK EXPERIENCE

FANBOX

Head of Operations

2023 - PRESENT

- Led day-to-day operations and strategic planning for a 30-person workforce across multiple departments, including full-time, part-time, and freelance staff.
- Spearheaded AI integration across consumer-facing products and internal productivity tools, driving both user engagement and operational efficiency.
- Introduced automation workflows across analytics, invoicing, and reporting, cutting repetitive admin time and streamlining freelancer payments, achieving a 4x efficiency gain in key operational processes.
- Designed pricing frameworks and cost models across consumer products and client deliverables, balancing engagement, scalability, and profitability.
- Founded and led the Content Department, overseeing B2B and B2C strategy across social channels
- Conducted risk assessments and implemented contingency plans, strengthening company resilience and ensuring business continuity.
- Partnered directly with founders to shape company direction, identify new business opportunities, and translate vision into actionable roadmaps.

Head of Research, Insights & Audience Activation

2021 - 2023

- Led an interdisciplinary team of psychologists, driving audience growth, mixed-method innovation and insights delivery.
- Directed R&D initiatives exploring dynamically adapted content and AI-modified media for creative testing.
- Developed the 'Movie Dimensions' taxonomy from 13+ million film reviews to support content and audience profiling and power the platform's recommendation generator.
- Scaled the platform's reach through an influencer-driven audience acquisition strategy, growing the subscriber base from 5,000 to over 120,000.
- Integrated data from multiple third-party APIs with 120,000 Fanbox behavioral profiles into an automated database, improving audience targeting and content personalization.

Head of Project Delivery -- Universal Pictures

2020 - 2021

- Managed Fanbox's largest client, Universal Pictures ($2M account), overseeing the full research lifecycle.
- Negotiated scope and deliverables to align client needs with internal capacity, protecting margins and maintaining long-term account growth.
- Conducted creative asset testing to optimize campaign performance and boost audience engagement across major film releases.
- Developed detailed audience profiles for major film IPs, identifying key psychographic and demographic segments, optimal media channels, and core appeal drivers.
- Provided data-driven insights to inform decisions around release timing and media planning, directly shaping marketing strategy for major film campaigns.
- Facilitated workshops with client stakeholders that reshaped internal approaches to audience research and campaign planning.
- Led broader market research projects focused on film industry trends, genre performance, and audience segments to support client strategy, positioning, and long-term planning.
